Donate today and support PJ Library families at JCC Greater Boston!

Here at JCC Greater Boston, we are incredibly fortunate to have such loving and caring grandparents in our community. Grandparents play an integral role in the lives of their grandchildren - not only through their love and presence, but through the Jewish values, traditions, and stories they pass down from generation to generation. They are powerful transmitters of Jewish legacy, helping to shape identity, strengthen connection, and inspire pride in our shared heritage. We are deeply grateful for the impact grandparents have on our families and community, and especially for the generosity of our grandparent donors, whose support helps us strengthen our community for generations to come.
